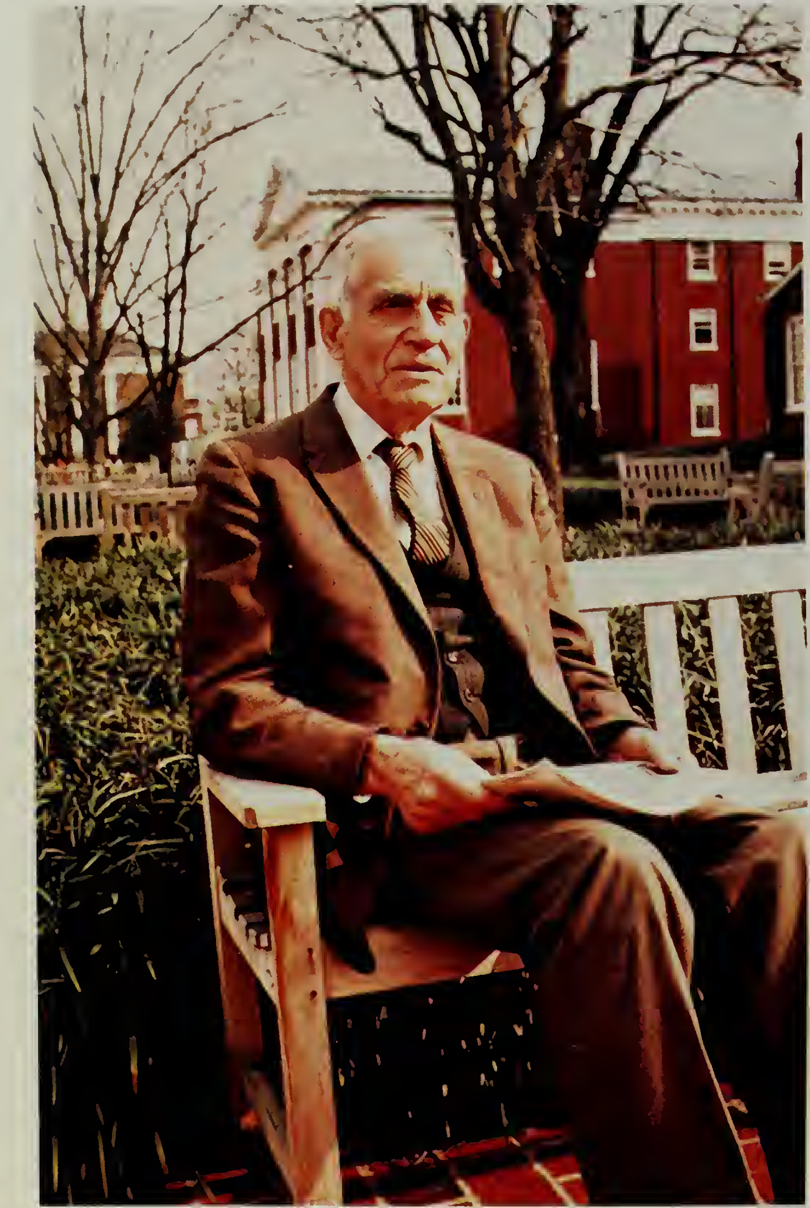
DEDICATION



Rupert Latture and Washington and Lee University have been a part of each other for many years. He came to this campus from his eastern Tennessee home in 1911, and when his photograph began to appear in student publications it was the likeness of a handsome, vigorous campus leader who would crown a truly distinguished undergraduate career by becoming the valedictorian of the class of 1915. A recent photograph of Rupert Latture that has appeared in several current publications shows a still handsome and vigorous man, proudly displaying a new T-Shirt that proclaimed in large type — "I MOVED IT!" His shirt referred to the moving of the library, but the words and the man were never more appropriately matched. Rupert Latture has been a prime mover at Washington and Lee almost all of his life. As a senior, he and his roommate decided there should be some society that would recognize outstanding campus leadership, so they and thirteen others founded the Alpha Circle of Omicron Delta Kappa. After meritorious service in France during World War I and its aftermath, he joined the Washington and Lee faculty in 1920 and thus began a distinguished teaching career that would span 42 years. He was a teacher and much more. He was a friend to every student, a trusted advisor to all who sought his wise counsel. In 1962, at age 70, Rupert Latture retired as head of the Department of Political Science. He became a special assistant to the President, and his assistance has been special indeed. When freshmen and families arrive in September, he is there at the freshman dorm to greet them and make them welcome. When alumni return to the campus, his is the familiar face to every student generation, and the reunions are warm and nostalgic. He carries on a lively correspondence with dozens of older alumni, maintaining and cultivating a level of interest among them that no other person at Washington and Lee could do as well. A significant fraction of Washington and Lee's financial strength today can be traced directly to Mr. Latture's tireless efforts. He has indeed moved this University, all for the better. With admiration, pride, and great respect, the 1981 Calyx staff dedicates this year's book to Rupert Nelson Latture.

ELECTION 1980

REAGAN
BUSH
THE TIME IS NOW
NOV. 4th
Reagan & Bush
Anderson

Election 1980 was indeed a joyous time here at W & L. Ronald Reagan's defeat of Jimmy Carter was certainly no surprise to most of this strongly Republican school, but the overwhelming landslide and Jimmy's very early concession in mid-evening did take many by surprise. Reagan captured 483 electoral votes to Carter's mere 49, and 51% of the popular vote compared to only 41% for Jimmy. In fact, Carter only received 67% of the Democratic vote as compared to 79% in 1976. One major problem was the low voter turnout, only 53%, even lower than the 54.3% turnout the previous election year. But the fact remains that Carter was the first Democratic President voted out of office since Grover Cleveland in 1888 and only the tenth President to be voted out of office in the entire history of the United States. Another great surprise was the fact that for the first time since the early 1950's, the Republican Party also gained a majority in the Senate. November 4th, 1980 was most assuredly a night for the Republicans.

W. Patrick Hinely

Most senior portraits are made by W. Patrick Hinely, Class of '73 and variously known as University Photographer, WORK/PLAY, Open Ear, Harlyn Pitecki, et cetera. After my demise, these negatives will become part of the University's collection. Should you wish to obtain prints before then, I can always be located via the W&L Alumni Office. All my photos were made with Leica cameras and lenses, Ilford film and paper, and a grain of salt. This picture of me was made by Tami Teal.

WASHINGTON AND LEE UNIVERSITY
LEXINGTON, VIRGINIA
OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

To the Class of 1981:

As I write this in February for publication in May, there is still a residue of optimism among many of us that carries over from the heady events of January 20th and the virtually simultaneous release of the hostages in Iran and the inauguration of a new president. Optimism is a fragile flower among some, blooming easily but withering at the slightest adversity; among others it is hardy like a weed, almost impossible to suppress and thriving on the most improbable nutrients. My optimism with regard to the future of the liberally educated man and woman is of this latter kind, as is my optimism about the future of institutions such as ours whose primary purpose is education in the liberal arts and sciences. Although emphasis elsewhere frequently seems to be directed toward training rather than education, I am convinced that the kind of opportunity offered at Washington and Lee will become an increasingly treasured experience.

You of the Class of 1981, perhaps more so than any other class in our long succeccion of graduates, have had access to greater resources for the development of the liberally educated mind. You were the first beneficiaries of new library and academic facilities, stunning both in their design and function. Our faculty has never been stronger, either in its credentials and experience or in its commitment to undergraduate teaching. Important new programs, such as Asian Studies and Society and the Professions, have matured as integral parts of the academic environment here. All alumni believe their years here were special, but I believe yours here were more special than most.

I am certain your CALYX will capture graphically a lare measure of this speciality.

I am optimistic and confident when I conisder the promise of your individual futures and the portent this holds for Washington and Lee's renewable strengths.

I wish you well.

6 wins — 4 losses

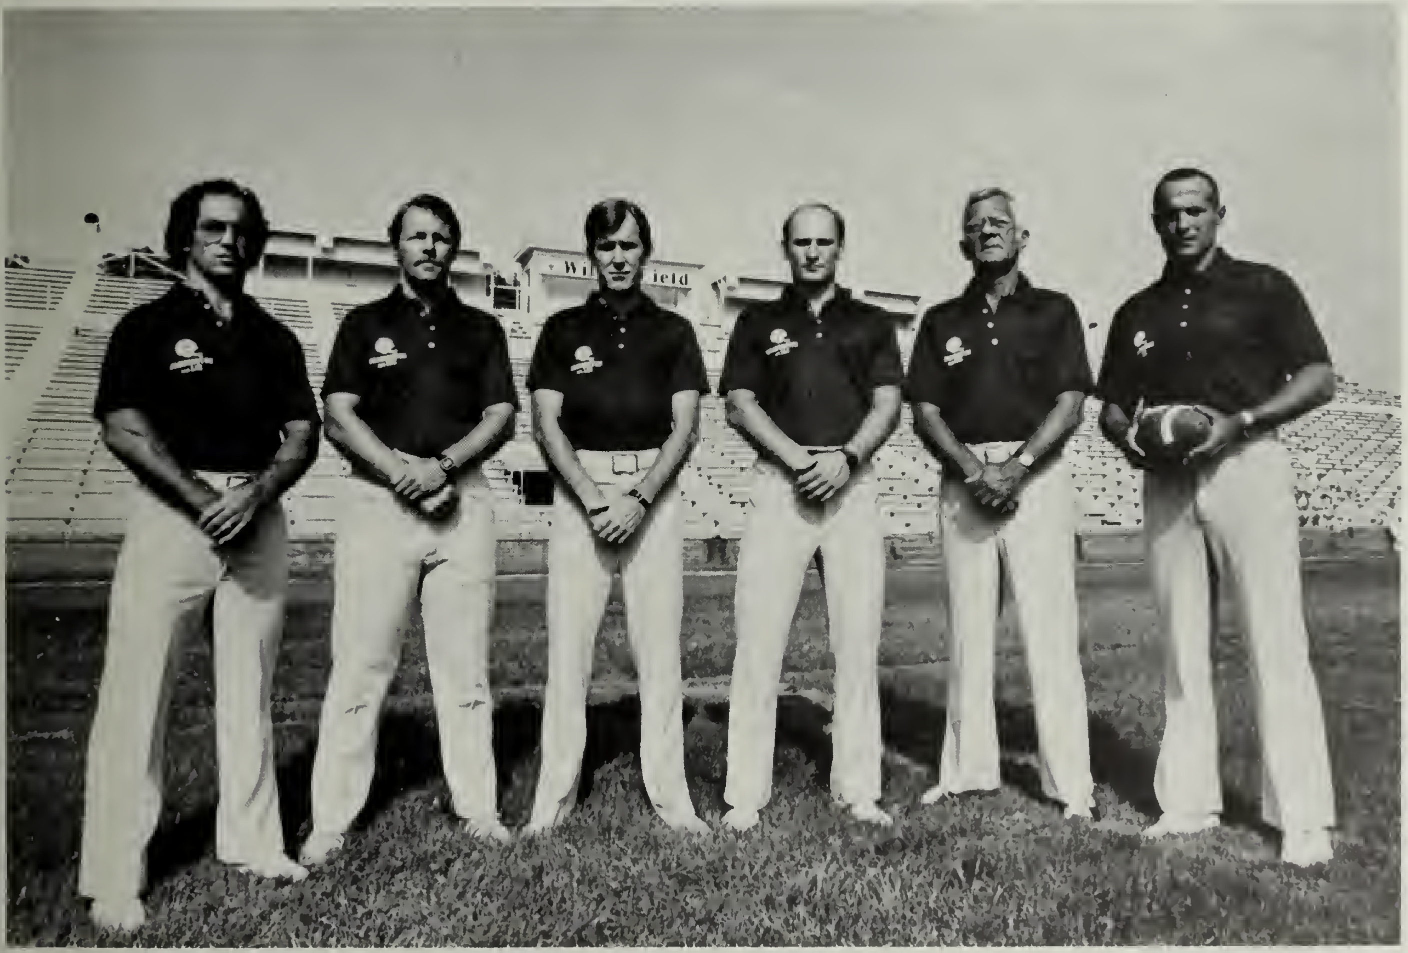
For the first time since 1967, the Washington and Lee football team concluded the year above the .500 mark with a satisfying 6-4 record.

This season was earmarked by exciting, last-minute comebacks which left fans breathless and opponents demoralized. The Generals always seemed to come up with that extra effort needed late in the contest, when the game was on the line.

Offensive standouts included senior co-captain Chris Leiser, who gained a team-high 555 yards rushing. Tailback Chris Cavalline totaled 537 yards and ten touchdowns despite missing three games with an injury. Quarterback Rich Hachenburg completed 57.5 percent of his passes, many of which went to tight end Mike Fogarty.

A tight General Defense was anchored by linebacker John McKee, who led the team with 69 tackles, and classmate Mike Pressler, a defensive lineman who registered 62 tackles.

Losing only six seniors, and with an impressive complement of reserves waiting in the wings, the Generals may well effect an end to their losing ways of the past, and prove that this season's success was no fluke.



Assistant Coaches Frank Miriello, Chuck O'Connell, Norris Aldridge, Chuck Kroll, Boyd Williams, Head Coach Gary Fallon.

	Final Record: 9 — 4 — 0

The 1980 edition of the Washington and Lee soccer team tied the school record for victories in one season, posting an impressive 9 — 4 season mark which nearly earned them an NCAA bid.

Spearheading the offensive attack were sophomore Brad Poorman, who led the team in assists (6) and total points (18).

However, the highlight of the season was the sparkling play of goalie Kevin Carney, who established a school record with 407 career saves.

With most of the squad returning in the fall, the soccer team hopes to capture that elusive laurel: and NCAA bid.

The 1980 water polo team pulled off a surprising comeback in the final two-thirds of the season, posting a 17 — 14 season record after a sluggish 4 — 7 start.

The Generals finished second to arch-rival University of Richmond in both the Virginia State Championships and the Southern League Championships.

The season was essentially a learning experience for the young squad, which was stocked with nine freshmen and absolutely no seniors. The fact that the Generals emerged with a winning mark despite such a young team is a credit to second year coach Page Remillard and his players.

Stars included junior Mike Bernot, sophomore Bob Marshall, and freshmen Tim Rock, Don Smith, Andy Gates, Rand McClain, and the Kadesky brothers, Kevin and Keith.

With all its players returning a year more experienced, the water polo team looks to not only defeat nemesis Richmond next year, but prove itself as a major southern water polo power.

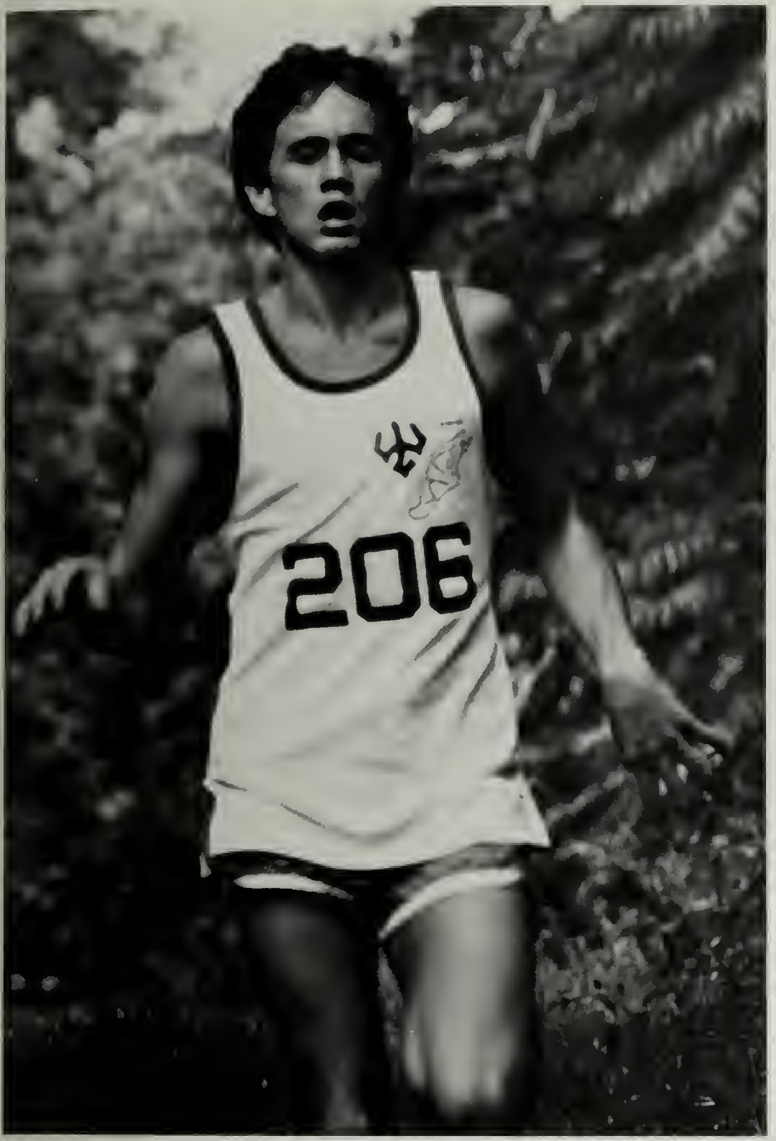
Final Dual Meet Record: 8-5-0



The cross-country team finished the 1980 season with a 7 — 5 record, the 20th winning season in Dick Miller's 29 years as coach.

The harriers were led by freshman Angus McBryde, who placed either first or second for W & L in all regular-season meets and who finished first among General runners in the ODAC meet.

Noteworthy in supporting roles were sophomores Jon Kelafant and Todd Smith, as well as senior co-captains Charlie Warner and Howard Herndon.

The 1981 harriers look to tack on another winning season to Miller's already impressive record.

The Washington and Lee basketball team demonstrated flashes of brilliance during the season as they proved themselves to be a powerful force in the Old Dominion Athletic Conference. The Generals sported a 16-10 overall record yet keeping a 7-7 ODAC mark.

Led by seniors Rob Smitherman and Carby Hoy, the team employed Coach Verne Canfield's "Total Team Togetherness" concept to win many exciting games, including a mid-season 8-game winning streak. The high point of the season was reached when W&L dealt Roanoke, ranked second nationally in NCAA Division III, its only defeat of the season.

Despite a marked depletion of their ranks due to injuries, the Washington and Lee wrestling team concluded the season with a 4-9 record in dual-meet competition.

Coach Gary Franke was pleased in finding four freshmen grapplers to add to the team's depth. Tim Valliere posted a team-high 15-12 record, Carlton Peebles won 11 of 26 matches, while classmates Rich Kopelman and Scott Mason registered marks of 7-11 and 7-14, respectively. This "fearsome foursome" should form the nucleus of next year's team.

Captain Dave Stoeffel, wrestling in the 167 pound class, chalked up 10 wins against 12 defeats. Senior Les Heart, last year's ODAC champion in the 177 pound weight class, was one of numerous victims of injury as a broken hand prohibited him from wrestling in all but one match.

Rob Crawford, a sophomore transfer from UCLA, broke three school records for the 1980-81 W&L Swimming tean, which finished the season with a 3-7 record.

Crawford set new standards in the 100-yard and 200-yard breaststroke events, as well as the 200-yard individual medley. In addition, the relay team of Herb Gresens, Jeff Gee, Mike Bernot and Crawford posted a new school record in the 400 yard medley.

With all of their fine swimmers returning next year, Coach Page Remillard's swimming team looks toward to the 1981-82 season as one of dramatic improvement for the young squad.

Many Washington and Lee students returned to Lexington this fall to find that crucial decisions had been made and that the machinery for making housing changes had been put into motion. The first and most noteworthy change was the university's arrogation of maintenance for fraternities. The unpopular and infamous "Fraternity Maintenance Plan" was dropped like a bomb on fraternity members. Frat "rats," as some faculty members called the fun-loving minks, responded loudly with much venom, but to no avail. The maintenance plan was a 'fait accompli' backed by stern words from the hill and President Huntley. The subject matter and specifics of the plan were debated frequently, resulting in a few changes being made, but the handling of the issue left many students wondering how much real responsibility and input they had in regard to student government at Washington and Lee.

While fraternity members struggled to organize rush and undermine the maintenance plan, the Publications Board called the Executive Committee to discuss the EC's decision to retroactively take salaries away from business managers and editors of the school's publications. The EC overruled the salary decision made last year returning salaries to the 1980-81 publications people. However, they let the Pub Board know that they opposed, in principle, the idea of salaries. The Pub Board met, reached a similar decision and ruled out salaries for future editors and business managers.

No sooner had the earlier news events died out than the problem of crime stepped in. A rape was reported, only to have charges, tests and facts obscured by a muddled investigation by the Lexington Police Department. The varsity football team took its toll on rivals and got off the its best start since 1963. The season was highlighted by a last munite touch and go victory over hated rival Hampden-Sydney.

Parents weekend started with a bang when the Ring-tum Phi ran an article on alcoholism and W&L. Some parents seemed surprised to hear about drinking here, but just as many saw Mink drinking habits as nothing unusual. The upshot of the incident was an investigation by Eric Myers of the EC. Fraternity members drank anyway and once again the police took enough time off from writing tickets to arrest fraternity presidents for noise code violations. Lexington has not had much success prosecuting fraternities for noise violations because of an error in enforcing the noise code. Interfraternity Council President Monty Briscoe looked into the matter and came up with a possible solution. However, when houses made too much noise on a weeknight, somebody got arrested. A quiet development this year was the faculty's acceptance or exasperation with weeknight parties. Little or no flak was caught about the weeknight blow-outs.

Homecoming Weekend followed close on the heels of parent's weekend and much to student's chagrin, the featured band of the event, The New Riders of The Purple Sage, or NRPS for short, cancelled out at the last minute. Calling on some mysterious inner power, SAB co-chairman Jamie Small lined up Sea Level. The band played so well with an astounding degree of intensity that no one really missed the sage brush cowtenders, or whatever the bush league band was called.

As November rolled around students made no secret of the candidate they would choose for President. Contact presented two speakers on the economic aspects of the election. Republican Senator Richard Schweiker and Democratic Senator Adlai Stevenson, neither of whom pulled any surprises or punched below the belt. Stevenson foreshadowed events as he slipped early in his speech and referred to the competition, Ronald Reagan, as the President. Schweiker simply outlined the Republican political platform and why its economic aspects would help save the country from inflation. G Gordon Liddy, the hottest item on college campuses in the fall of 1980, visited W&L and gave a conservative speech which earned a standing ovation. Only one student blatantly criticized Liddy, commenting he was sorry Liddy did not spend more time in jail for his role in Watergate. A London Times reporter noted in his article about Liddy that W&L was one of the most conservative campuses in the nation.

One of the most interesting events of the year was a hostage crisis in Lexington. The Pi Kappa Phi fraternity carried out its annual activity of kidnapping its visiting national secretary. He threatened to take legal action, but the Interfraternity Council stepped in and dealt Pi Kappa Phi a punishment which seemed to please most parties involved. Conspicuously quiet during the ordeal was self-appointed faculty spokesman, Pi Kappa Phi advisor to the Interfraternity Council, Holt Merchant. He did say something about an opera.

Things were stirred up again when Executive Committee President Bob Willis went Before the IFC and stated that an unnamed person dropped a hallucinogenic drug into a guest's drink at a fraternity party. The guest, according to Willis, did not know about the drug and subsequently had problems resulting in the student's withdrawal from school. The unusual intrusion by the EC and nebulous intent of the message left everyone wondering what had really happened.

Later in December, students were shocked by the news of John Lennon's death. Across the university students privately and publicly mourned the death of one of our generation's most popular spokesmen, musicians and peaceniks.

When classes resumed in January, students discovered that a senior, Ed Johnson, had received a Rhodes Scholarship. But Johnson's congratulations turned to condemnation following an interview with the Ring-tum Phi. Johnson later denied making certain comments to Phi reporter Bill Whalen, but the newspaper stood behind its reporter and the validity of the article. As late as Fancy Dress the letters were still rolling in to the Phi.

Another fraternity sprang to life but was denied permission to move into its old house. The Superdance was held again this year, raising over $22,000. The Muscular Dystrophy Association found avid supporters here at Washington and Lee. Even more avid and more numerous than the superdance fans were minks who turned out for Fancy Dress 1981 — "On Boradway." John Prine was the featured singer on Thursday night and believe it or not, he did not cancel his performance. Opinion seemed overwhelmingly in favor of Prine and the most recent edition of Fancy Dress. However, questions were raised about the Student Activities Board and the handling of its budget.

As spring appeared on the horizon, the lacrosse team destroyed its first opponent, the Virginia Beach Lacrosse Club. Despite the loss of many top players to graduation, head coach Jack Emmer continued to recruit top level athletes who worked well with the experienced upperclassmen. New blood was also brought to the baseball team. Virginia Military Institute graduate and National Football League prospect Craig Jones took over for former head coach Chuck Kroll.

The year in retrospect proved to be a year of hope and new faith. With the release of the American Hostages in Iran and the inauguration of a new President, a general feeling of national unity arose.

For those of you who decided not to keep a scrapbook this year (I can't imagine why), I offer you the 1981 Calyx. You'll probably not find as many pictures of yourself, your girlfriend, your dog, or your car (not necessarily in order of importance) as if you had kept a private volume, but I hope this yearbook will help bring back good memories of 1980-81 at W&L. There isn't much copy; the photographs should tell the stories. This being the case, you won't find many reminders of the dreaded all-nighters, the 2:00 A.M. return-roadtrips, the 4:00 A.M. pledge raids, the 11:02 P.M. phone calls to the H.T.H., the 12:45 A.M. munch-outs at Spanky's, the 8:00 A.M. hangovers every Thursday, etc. I guess you'll occasionally have to "reach out and touch someone" to remind a fellow Mink of the awesome roadtrips the two of you made to Hollins, or the all-nighters the two of you pulled just to "hook" the Ax, or the time you nailed his Topsiders to the floor during Homecoming (sorry). Anyway, we do have F.D., Homecoming, Superdance, Frats, Lax, Hoops, and much more. Borrowing a phrase of an ancient Calyx editor, I hope that in years to come when you are in your study with your grandson (or secretary) on your lap, this book will help you re-live some of the "good ole' days" at W&L.

This book is the product of many. I owe thanks to the entire staff, the patrons, and the advertisers. I also offer special thanks to K.T., John Billmyre, Todd Smith, Markham Pyle, Ralph Frasca, Robert Keefe, Ken Ries, Pat Hinely — Work/Play (mostly the latter), Andre's Studios, and, of course, Charlie Garrison and Hunter Publishing Company.
